

Comparative results of three packaging solutions in an average 6 kg European situation

Comparisons of the total life-cycle impact of the uses of different packaging materials in terms of energy use, water use, pollution and waste material volumes show that expanded polystyrene (EPS) compares favourably with polypropylene (PP) and cardboard packaging because of its energy-efficient production and light weight.

